North Georgia Conference of the United Methodist Church
Center for Congregational Excellence
Atlanta, GA

Description:
The North Georgia Conference’s Center for Congregational Excellence has a rich history of starting new churches over the last 30 plus years. A variety of strategies have been employed to create these new places for new people from Vital Mergers like Neighborhood Church in Candler Park, to parachute drops with members seeded from other local congregations like Impact Church on Sylvan Road in Atlanta. We have various placements available in brand new churches that are still worshipping in schools, like The Fountain in Johns Creek to more established new churches that have created 2nd campuses of their own, like The Vine at Chateau Elan and Flowery Branch, or a multi-ethnic new church like The Nett in Gwinnett County with two campuses with a third opening soon. Quest in Grovetown, near Augusta Georgia is one of our fastest growing churches and offers another opportunity to learn in a non-metro Atlanta setting.

Summer Intern Position
This placement offers an opportunity for the student to experience life in a growing church with creative and innovative approaches to evangelism, hospitality, preaching, teaching, outreach, and administration. The student will regularly meet with the staff team to plan worship, gain an understanding of a systems approach to church planting, and explore the skills needed to reach new people, especially the unchurched and the de-churched. Placements would be with one particular new church start, but intentional visits and teaching from other nearby new churches would be part of the learning experience.
