Rio Texas Conference
“On the Border”

Description:
Ministry on the Texas / Mexico border is a unique setting. Border towns exist and thrive because of the border. This unique context has both opportunities and challenges, especially with the immigration crises and humanitarian needs. Rio Texas Conference has been and will continue to be the hands and feet of Christ along our approximate 450 miles of border. Rev. Karen Horan, Director of Creating and Vitalizing Congregations will help connect interns to churches and other United Methodist non-profit organizations who give aide, worship, share the love of Jesus, and aide with legal / justice issues related to migrants.

Summer Intern Position
The intern will have hands on experience both with the church and migrants as well as helping provide educational opportunities for those desiring to learn more. They can help lead worship, do work on both sides of the border (depending on the church and safety), help those in need and possibly learn more about the laws and rights of immigrants and their families.

- The Holding Institute in Laredo, TX provides emergency assistance to migrants who are the most vulnerable, especially women and their children. They also provide on-going training, worship, and small groups / Bible studies.

- Mission Boarder Hope in Eagle Pass, TX is an outreach of First UMC Eagle Pass. They provide all kinds of assistance for those on both sides of the boarder including hygiene kits, providing transportation, food and clothing. They have regular worship every Sunday as well as studies and Sunday school.

- First UMC McAllen is a large church in the Valley that provides an array of ministry opportunities to students. Being on the boarder, they are actively connected to both the hands on and the legal aspects of border issues.
